

Findlayhopehouse.org Privacy Policy

Effective as of November 2, 2016

1. AGREEMENT AND PARTIES

Findlayhopehouse.org (“Findlay Hope House,” “us,” or “we”) respects the privacy and personal information of the members of our community. This privacy policy applies to information we receive when you use the Findlayhopehouse.org website or otherwise provide personal information to Findlay Hope House (collectively, the “Findlay Hope House Service” or “Service”). This privacy policy (“privacy policy” or “policy”) is an agreement between Findlay Hope House and you, as the user of the Findlay Hope House Service (“you”). This agreement tells you when this policy is effective, how we may change this policy, what information we collect from you, how we might use that information, how you can review or change the personal information you provided to us, and the steps we take to ensure that your personal information is protected. We share your personal information only with your consent or as described in this policy.

Please read this privacy policy to learn more about how Findlay Hope House treats personally identifiable information. We follow principles that are supported by the Federal Trade Commission's Fair Information Practices Principles, currently available at <http://www.ftc.gov>. If you have comments, suggestions, questions, or concerns about our privacy policy, please contact us at the email and/or address provided at the end of this policy.

2. AGREEMENT TO TERMS OF PRIVACY POLICY AND TERMS OF USE

Any Findlay Hope House Service you wish to use is purely voluntary. You are not required to provide any personal information to us unless you choose to access features of the Service which require such information. If you do not agree with the terms of this policy or other terms of use related to the Findlay Hope House Service, then you should immediately exit this website and discontinue using the site or any component of the Findlay Hope House Service. If you do not agree with the terms of our privacy policy and terms of use, please do not provide us with personal information, and discontinue use of the Findlay Hope House Service. Findlay Hope House’s terms of use is expressly incorporated into this policy by reference and made a part of this policy. By using the Findlay Hope House Service, you signify that you understand and agree to the terms of this privacy policy as well as to our terms of use.

3. EFFECTIVE DATE OF AND CHANGES TO PRIVACY POLICY

This privacy policy is effective as of November 2, 2016 and will remain in effect except with respect to any of its provisions that are changed in the future, in which case the changes will become effective thirty (30) days after they are posted to the website or we otherwise notify you of the changes. Use of information we collect is subject to the policy in effect at the time such information was collected. We reserve the right to change this privacy policy at any time and you should check this privacy policy periodically. Your continued use of the Service after we post any such modifications will constitute your acknowledgment of the modified policy and your agreement to abide and be bound by the modified policy. We will also revise the “last updated” date found at the beginning of this privacy policy when we post changes to it.

4. POLICY APPLICABLE TO ONLINE ACTIVITIES ONLY

The privacy policy does not extend to anything that is inherent in the operation of the internet, and therefore beyond Findlay Hope House’s control, and is not to be applied in any manner contrary to applicable law or governmental regulation. This privacy policy only applies to information collected through the Findlay Hope House Service and otherwise as described in this policy.

5. INFORMATION WE MAY COLLECT

5.1 Personal Information

When you choose to make use of some features of the Service, you will be asked to provide information – such as your name, address, city, state, etc. – that could be used by a third-party to identify you. In keeping with our mission of political action and community involvement, we may make this information available to third parties in our attempt to influence the debate on important issues of the day. For example, we may include such information in letters or petitions (or the like), which we send to governmental officials on behalf of our members. We may also disclose such information to members of the press interested in featuring our members in their work. If you do not wish for us to share your personal information, please do not submit such personal information to Findlay Hope House. Findlay Hope House reserves the right to share any such information that you provide in any manner, by any means, and for any purpose consistent with our mission and message.

5.2 General Information

Types Of Information Collected. There may be other instances in which we collect information from you that is more general in nature (“general information”). Such information may include information recorded by our server logs from your browser, such as your Internet Protocol (IP) address (which enables us to identify your computer or device on a Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol (TCP/IP) network like the internet) and the specific webpage you requested. In addition, we may receive an automatic confirmation when you open an email from Findlay Hope House if your computer supports this type of program. Such general information, including the click stream data and cookies, as mentioned below, may be collected from you whenever you access or use the Findlay Hope House Service, whether or not you provide us with any other personal information.

Click Stream Data. When you use the Findlay Hope House Service we may collect “click stream data” (server address, domain name, etc.). This information can enable us to analyze and better customize your visits. We may use click stream data for traffic analysis or e-commerce analysis of our service, to determine which features within the Findlay Hope House Service are most or least effective or useful to you.

Cookies. A cookie is a small string of information that the website you visit transfers to your computer for identification purposes. Cookies can be used to follow your activity throughout the Findlay Hope House Service and that information helps us to understand your preferences and improve your experience. Findlay Hope House cookies do not collect personal information from you, and we do not combine the general information collected through cookies with other personal information you may provide to personally identify you. You can turn off all cookies, if you prefer not to receive them. You can also have your computer warn you whenever cookies are being used. Please refer to documentation provided with your web browser (e.g., Firefox, Safari, Google Chrome, or Internet Explorer) for information on enabling these options. There are also software products available that can manage cookies for you. Please be aware, however, that when you choose to reject cookies, this choice may limit the functionality of the website you visit and you may lose access to some of its features.

6. USE AND SHARING OF INFORMATION.

6.1. To Provide The Service To You

We will use the personal information you provide and any general information we receive from you to provide the Findlay Hope House Service to you, which include the following:

- A. Lobbying, public-interest activities and initiatives, and other similar purposes as described above.
- B. To assist those who help us in designing and operating the Service or helping us analyze collected data.
- C. To send you information or materials via email about Findlay Hope House campaigns and other news we think might interest you. (If you no longer wish to receive any emails from us, please see "OPTING OUT OF EMAIL" below.)
- D. To analyze visits to the Findlay Hope House website and learn about the interests of our visitors in the aggregate and also on a personal level to better understand your interests and needs, so we can improve our Service and deliver to you the type of content, features, and promotions that you are most interested in.
- E. With our campaign partners, which are identified on webpages dedicated to individual Findlay Hope House campaigns. In such cases, information shared with these partners will be subject to the privacy policies of those partners. We will only share your information with such partners if you provide information through a Findlay Hope House webpage which is dedicated to a specific campaign. To view our partners for a specific campaign, and the privacy policies of those partners, click on the partner's logo – which will appear on the website dedicated to that specific campaign. Please be aware that additional partners may join a campaign after you visit the webpage, and all associated partners will have access to any information you may provide to us in relation to that specific campaign.

6.2 Business Transfers

In some cases, we may choose to transfer assets consistent with our not-for-profit obligations. In these types of transactions, users information is typically one of the assets that is transferred. Moreover, if Findlay Hope House or substantially all of its assets were acquired, user information would likely be one of the assets that is transferred or acquired by a third party. You acknowledge that such transfers may occur, and that any acquirer of Findlay Hope House may continue to use your personal information as set forth in this policy.

6.3 Protection of Findlay Hope House and Others

We may release personal information when we believe in good faith that release is necessary to comply with any law, enforce or apply our terms of use and other agreements, or protect the rights, property, or safety of Findlay Hope House, our employees, our customers, or others. We may disclose personal or general information upon receipt of a court order or subpoena, or to cooperate with a law enforcement investigation, which may include responding to requests and court orders from jurisdictions outside the United States. We reserve the right to report to law enforcement agencies any activities that we in good faith believe to be unlawful, as determined in our sole discretion.

6.4 Retention of Your Information

We will only retain your information to the extent: (a) it is needed for the purposes which we have conveyed to you; (b) we are required by law to maintain such information; or (c) it is needed for us to address any issues or inquiries that you may have. When your information is no longer required, we will dispose of such information by destroying it or erasing it.

7. PROTECTION OF YOUR INFORMATION

7.1. Security Measures

In order to protect both the personal information and the general information that we receive from you through your use of the Findlay Hope House Service, we have implemented various security measures. We also follow generally accepted industry standards to protect the personal information submitted to us, both during transmission and once we receive it.

7.2. Risk Of Interception

Please keep in mind, however, that whenever you give out personal information online there is a risk that third parties may intercept and use that information. While Findlay Hope House strives to protect your personal information and privacy, we cannot guarantee the security of any information you disclose online. By using these Service, you expressly acknowledge and agree that we do not guarantee the security of any data provided to or received by us through your use of the Findlay Hope House Service and that any personal information, general information, or other data or information received from you through your use of these Service is provided to us at your own risk, which you expressly assume.

8. NO USE OF THIS SERVICE BY MINORS PERMITTED

8.1. Registration Declined For Minors

The Findlay Hope House Service is intended only for those who are at least 18 years old. Personal information submitted by a minor violates the website terms of use and will not be accepted. Any general information provided by a minor and gathered (for example, through the use of cookies) during his or her visit may be used as indicated in this privacy policy. Findlay Hope House is committed to protecting the privacy of children and has no intention of collecting personal data from minors. We encourage parents and guardians of minors to regularly check and monitor their children's use of email and other activities online.

8.2. Notice Concerning Children

PLEASE NOTE: The Findlay Hope House Service is a general audience service, and we do not direct any of our content specifically at children under 13 years of age. We understand and are committed to respecting the sensitive nature of children's privacy online. If we learn or have reason to suspect that a user of the Service is under age 13, we will promptly delete any personal information we may have regarding that user. If you have such information, please contact us at privacy@Findlayhopehouse.org.

9. LINKS TO THIRD PARTIES

For your convenience and to improve the usage of the Findlay Hope House Service we may insert links to third parties. This privacy policy does not apply to such third party websites. These links take you outside our Service and off the Findlayhopehouse.org website and are beyond our control. This includes links from partners that may use Findlay Hope House's logos as part of a co-branding agreement. The sites those links can take you to have their own separate privacy policy and, although we seek to protect the integrity of our Service, Findlay Hope House is not liable for the content and activities of those sites. Your visits and access to such websites is at your own risk. Please note that those other sites may send their own cookies to users, collect data, or solicit personal information.

10. OPTING OUT OF EMAIL

If at any time you would like to unsubscribe from our email list, please email acrist@findlayhopehouse.org. Please note that although you may opt out of receiving emails, Findlay Hope House reserves the right to communicate with you via email regarding specific campaigns you may have requested information regarding or inquired about.
